Bu:, aka Zaranda (Chadic, South-Bauchi West). Wordlist and grammatical notes

Bernard CARON

caron@vjf.cnrs.fr

Bu:, also called Zaranda, is a Chadic language spoken in the South of Bauchi State, in Nigeria, belonging to the South-Bauchi West group of Chadic languages (Shimizu 1978). Although generally associated with Bolu, Pelu and Geji¹ Bu: stands apart from these other lects with which there is no intercomprehension. Most of the Bu: population has migrated from the original location of the Zaranda village (Zaranda Haɓe, longitude 9,57; latitude 10,28) to the present Zaranda (longitude 9,52 ; latitude 10,23) where they have abandoned their language for Hausa and Fulfulde. The few that have retained their language live in Zaranda Haɓe, in houses scattered in the hills, gathering around the chief once a year for the traditional religious festivities. This work is the result of two working sessions of four days each in January and November 2002.

Tones

Bu: has two tones. Only Hi (á) and contour (â, ǎ) tones will be noted. Lo tones will remain unmarked (a).

2. Pronouns

SBW languages have no gender or dual and no opposition between inclusive and exclusive persons.

	Independant	Non-verbal Subject	DO	Genitive
1s	ámí:	ní	= óŋ	= yí:/yí:
2s	kí:	kí	= kí	= wa?/wâ?
3s	tí:	tí	= tí	= wa:s/wâs:

¹ Cf. The Ethnologue, http://www.ethnologue.com/show_language.asp?code=gji, URL consulted on January 27th, 2006.

1p	mí:	mi	= mí	= yi:nóŋ
2p	kiní:	ki	= kíní	= wa:kəŋ
3p	sí:	si	= sí	= wa:səŋ

The tones of Direct Object and Genitive pronouns, being clitics, are prone to vary according to the context.

This is the case with genitive pronouns whose tone contrasts in the singular with that of the preceding syllable: áncín=wa:s, ‘his nose’ ; áncín=wa:sán, ‘their nose’; pəga=wâ:s, ‘his knife’ ; pəga wa:sán, ‘their knife’.

In the case of Direct Objects, the tone variation is not on the pronoun itself (Hi in all contexts) but on the following word, which gets a Hi tone in the singular. This floating Hi tone is blocked when the following word begins with a non-implosive voiced obstruent (+V).² Let us compare pəga, ‘knife’ (-V) with gù:, ‘chief’ (+V):

tá bəl=kín pəga ?i.
3S.PRF give=2S.DO knife AC
He gave you a knife

tá bəl=mí pəga ?i.
3S.PRF give=1P.DO knife AC
He gave us a knife

sǎ: bəl=tí gu: wi.
3P.PRF give=3S.DO chief AC
They gave him a chief.

sǎ: bəl=mí gu: wi.
3P.PRF give=1P.DO chief AC
They gave us a chief.

3. TAM

2.1 Subject pronouns

	Aorist	Perfect	Imperfect	Future
1s	a	ǎ:	ámí:	am
2s	kə	ká	kí:	kəm
3s	tə	tá	tí:	təm
1p	mə	mǎ:	mí:	məm
2p	kə ... -pl	kǎ: ... -pl	kí: ... -pl	kəm ... -pl
3p	sə	sǎ:	sí:	səm

In the 2p, Zaranda verbs have a plural form, characterized by suffixation of -ən for verbal forms and -ni for nominal forms viz the verbal noun used in the Continuous and Future. The verbal plural form is also used for the Imperative Plural. Tones vary, with an overall tendency to be LH. The plural forms elicited in the survey are given in the wordlist below.

2.2 Aorist

The aorist is a \emptyset morpheme. It is used as a narrative, subjunctive and replaces the Perfect in +focus contexts.

tá lyǎ:mí tə Mú:sá \emptyset pósh slu:.
3S.PRF want COMP MUSA AOR cut meat
He wants Musa to cut meat

The negation uses the structure bə-Pro ... wèy. The resulting paradigm is:

² Cf. (Schneeberg 1974:139) who established the importance of voiced obstruents for tone rules in Za.r.

Neg Subjunctive
1s	be: ... wey
2s	bi: ... wey
3s	bə ... wey
1p	bəm ... wey
2p	bi: ... wey
3p	bəs ... wey

2.3 Perfect

The Perfect morpheme is á when the subject is nominal, -á: when pronominal. Negation is marked with wey at the end of the sentence where it is in complementary distribution with the wi morpheme marking accomplishment.

Mú:sá á pósh slú: wi.
 Musa PRF cut meat AC
Musa cut some meat.

kǎ: pócé:n slú: wey.
 2P.PRF cut.PL meat NEG
You (pl.) didn't cut meat.

2.4 Imperfect

The Imperfect subject pronoun is followed by a Verbal Noun characterized by a -ti suffix and a Lo tone. The Imperfect formative is -í with a pronominal subject and ďǎ with a nominal subject.

Mú:sá ďǎ posh-ti slu:
 Musa IPRF cut-VN meat
Musa is cutting meat.

The negative form is Pro + ďáá ... wey.

si-ďá: posh-ti slu: wey.
 3P-NEG cut-VN meat NEG
They are not cutting meat.

The full paradigm is :

Neg Imperfective
1s	ámí ďá: ... wey
2s	kí ďá: ... wey
3s	tí ďá: ... wey
1p	mi ďá: ... wey
2p	ki ďá: ... wey
3p	si ďá: ... wey

2.5 Future

The Future subject pronoun is followed by a floating Hi tone raising the first tone of the following Verbal Noun from Lo to Hi. The formative is nám when the subject is nominal and -m when pronominal.

a kyêw Mú:sá nám pósh-ti slu:.
 at tomorrow Musa FUT cut-VN meat
Tomorrow Musa will cut meat.

Two negative forms exist for the Future: one is derived from the Imperfective with wèy at the end of the sentence; the other one is based on the Future itself, using the structure Pro+kám ... wèy. The resulting paradigms are:

	Negative Future I	Negative Future II
1s	ámí ... wey	á kám ... wey
2s	kii ... wey	kí kám ... wey
3s	tii ... wey	tó kám ... wey
1p	mii ... wey	mə kám ... wey
2p	kii ... wey	ki kám ... wey
3p	sii ... wey	sə kám ... wey

4. Definite vs Indefinite

The definite is marked with -ú suffixed to the noun: kó:kál-ú ‘the chicken’. The indefinite is number-sensitive with wón (s.) or yén (p.) following the noun : ɬá: wón ‘some cow’ ; ɬá: yén ‘some cows’.

5. Deictics

Like the indefinite morphemes, deictics are number-sensitive:

	singular	plural
proximal	gu	gi:
distal	gwa	gya:

6. Complementation. The genitive link

Complementation is done through the use of the genitive link (GL) ká following the pattern N1 ká N2. lubi ká gu:, ‘the house of the chief, lit. house of chief’.

The GL may be omitted, leaving its Hi tone floating, attaching to the first syllable of SN2 except if it starts with a +V consonant. This is readily observed in prepositions which use the genitive link to introduce their complement : zlo:mi, ‘middle’ > zlom (ká), ‘in the middle (of)’:

+V	zim	rope	ɬom zim	in the middle of the road
-V	ɬitu	road	ɬom ɬitu	in the middle of the rope

7. Qualification

When qualifying a noun, adjectives are on the left of the noun and are followed by the floating Hi tone of the GL, blocked by +V consonants. See the following example with the adjective du: ‘black’ :

+V	zim	rope	du: zim	a black rope
-V	ɬa:	cow	du: ɬa:	a black cow

7. Relative Clauses

The relative clause is made with the pivot noun in the definite form, followed by nə. It is closed by a second definite marker :

ǎ: yenən kó:kál-ú nə pócí wu.
 1S.PRF see chicken-DEF COMP cut DEF
I saw the chicken that he slaughtered.

8. Focus

Contrastive focus is marked by the copula i: preceding the left-dislocated argument. In +Focus context, the Perfective is replaced by the Aorist.

i: á mí: Ø ɲgaw wul kɛ́ cí dá.
 COP 1S.INDEP AOR look for thing of eat DIR
I am the one looking for food.

9. Questions

Wh-questions start with a question-word optionally followed by the identifying copula kəŋ :

wó: kəŋ Ø bɔ́?
 who? COP AOR come
Who came?

yǎ: kəŋ kə fə ʔí?
 what? COP 2S.AOR do AC
What did you do?

á nəmí: kə mbə?
 at WHEN 2S.AOR come
When did you arrive?

á wuna: kəni?
 at WHERE COP
Where is it?
