Elements / Mortar

EM 1

Square mortar panel, composed of crosses and a central star, decorated with trefoil shaped florets.

The panel can be re-carved.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

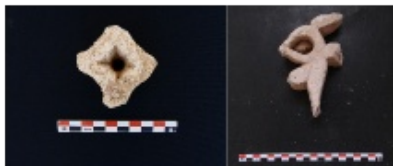

EM 2

Restitution under study

Mortar panel with a geometric setting, composing a geometric pattern.

Cf. EC 3

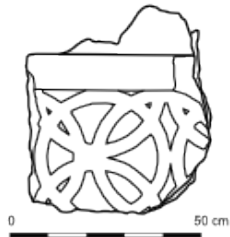

EM 3

Claustra

Mortar element forming a vegetal decoration.

EM 4

Full restitution under study

Mortar frieze with a geometric setting picturing interlaced circles.

EM 5

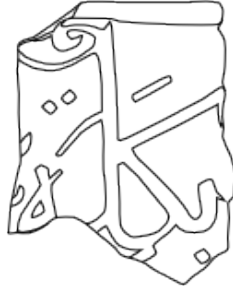

Full restitution under study

Mortar panel with a geometric setting, organized around a central star.

EM 6

Mortar element, quadrangular Kufi representing Muhammad name, surrounded by vegetal decoration.

EM 7

Mortar panel with a linear classical inscription.

EM 8

Restitution under study

Mortar panel with a floret decoration.

EM 9

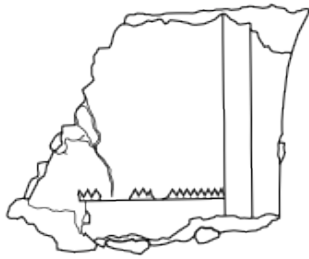

Restitution under study

Rectangular mortar panel, Mihrab decoration, second state.

EM 11

Moldings applied to wall panels, forming frames door, and horizontal bands with frieze of triangles.

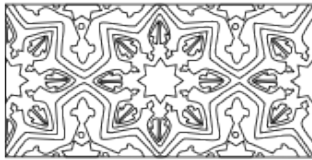

0 1 m

EM 12

Mortar molded panel with stylized crosses and stars, with florets and palm leaves decorations.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

EM 13

Restitution under study

Mortar element, Muqarnas.

EM 10

Full restitution under study

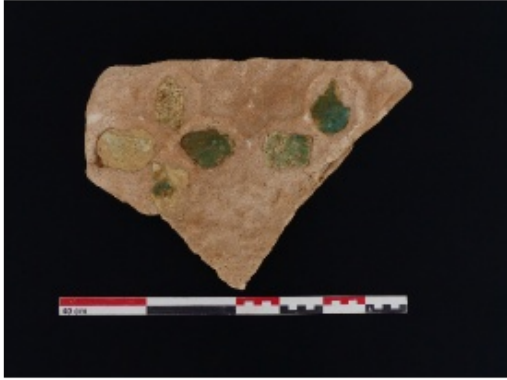

Mortar molds for EC3 or EC4 decorations.

EM 14

Mortar molds for EC5 or EC6 decorations.

Elements / Composites.

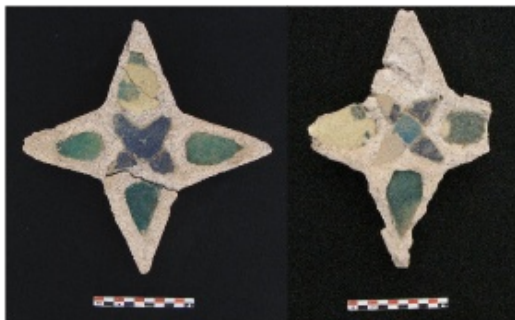

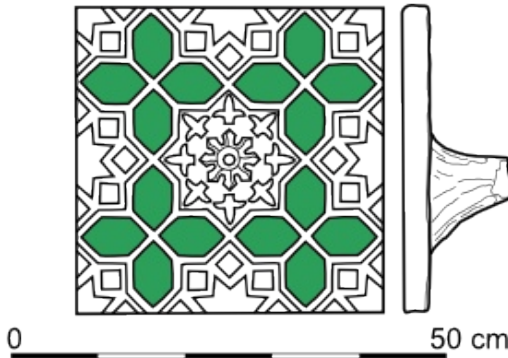

EC 1

Mortar square panel with fragments of green glazed tiles, turquoise and/or blue cobalt, forming a cross.

Crosses up a central star, decorated with trefoil shaped florets.

The panel can be re-carved, often by half.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

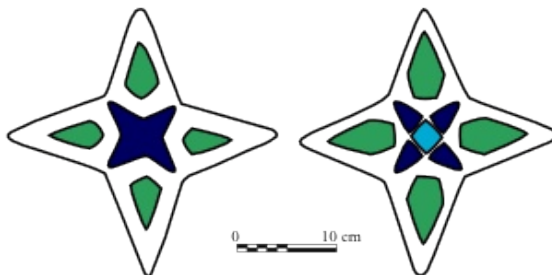

EC 2

Four-pointed star in mortar, inlaid with fragments of glazed tiles, in green, blue cobalt and turquoise colors.

The stars are finally molded, the molding often being damaged.

Two types of stars have been defined.

EC 3

Restitution under study

Mortar panel consisting of fragments of green glazed tiles molded, forming a common geometric pattern.

Applied molding appears to be random, so that the decoration is not always the same, but the overall organization remains the same.

The panels vary in shape and can be carved.

EC 4

Restitution under study

Mortar panel consisting of fragments of green glazed tiles molded, forming a geometric pattern.

The molding is thicker than EC 3 and the shape of the stars is different too.

The overall pattern can't be restituted at this time though.

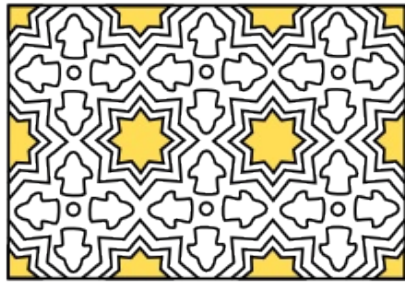

EC 5

Mortar panel with molded crosses patterns in the shape of trefoil florets, with a center of blue fritware fragment.

Crosses are interposed with metallic luster tiles forming stars.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

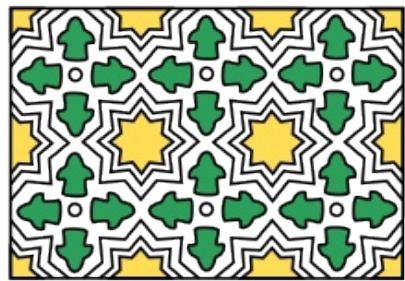

0 50 cm

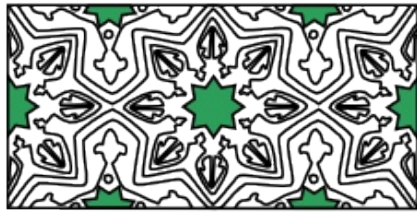

EC 6

Molded mortar panel inlaid with fragments of green glazed tiles forming crosses, interposed with stars made from fragments of metallic luster tiles.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

0 50 cm

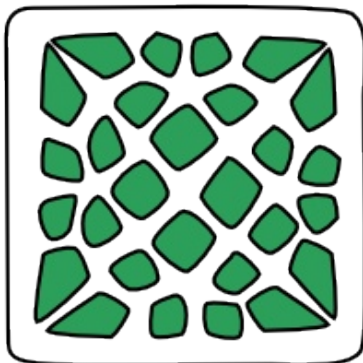

0 50 cm

EC 7

Mortar panel with molded decoration forming stylized crosses and stars, decorated with palm leaves and florets, with a central green glazed tile fragment.

This type of panel is often very deteriorated, so that the stylized moldings have more or less disappeared.

0 50 cm

EC 8

Mortar panel, inlaid of fragments of green glazed tiles, forming a geometric pattern.

The molding is thick, and the pattern can have been directly carved in the mortar.

The panel is likely square.

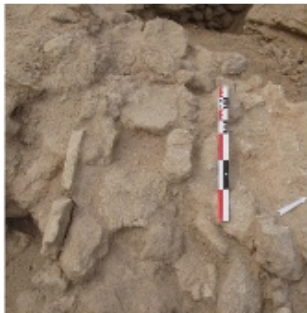

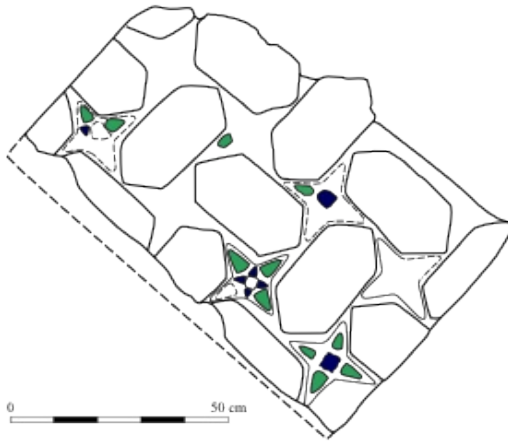

Styles

Style A

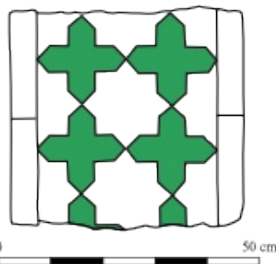

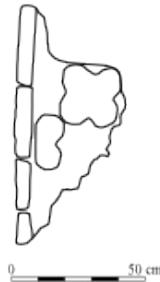

EICH + EC 2

Horizontal and vertical alignment of EICH, forming locations to receive EC 2. Architectural element borders are composed of horizontal half EICH.

Style B

Quatrefoils and half-quatrefoils arranged to form half-stars and complete eight-pointed stars where complete stars and half stars glazed tiles were placed. Slabs are used as borders.

Style C

Complete green glazed crosses arranged to form half-stars and complete eight-pointed stars. Architectural element borders comprise half-quatrefoils which only slice can be seen.

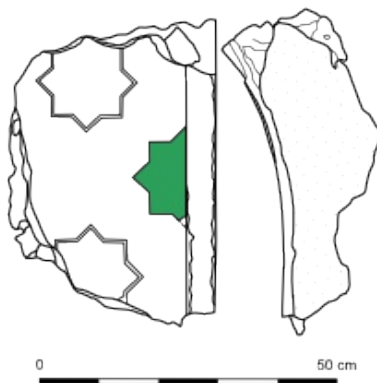

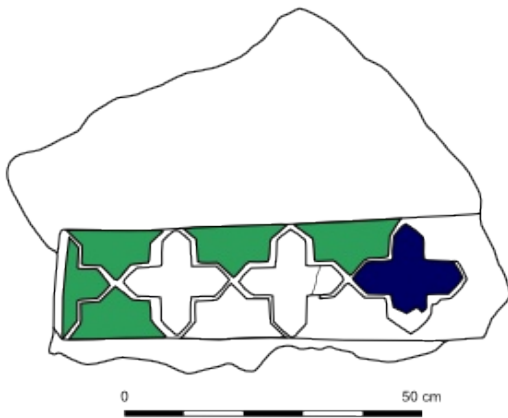

Style D

Complete crosses and half-stars in green or cobalt glazed tiles, which contours are molded.

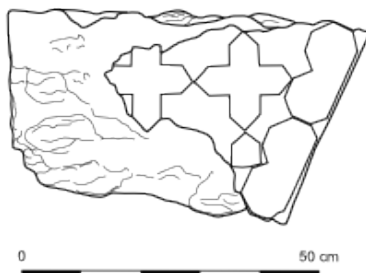

The whole forms a frieze with a likely color scheme consisting in a green cross then a blue cross, and so on.

This decoration style also declines as panels with a central eight pointed star, surrounded by half crosses.

Style E

Decoration with half-stars arranged on a border, and complete green glazed eight-pointed stars.

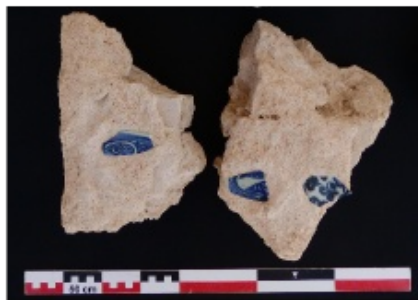

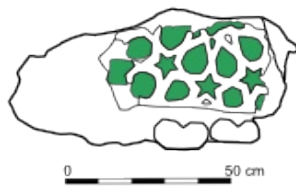

Style F

Setting is the same as in style C, except that here, half quatrefoils are clearly visible, forming the edge.

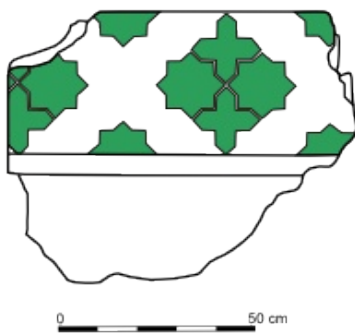

Style G

Decoration is made of EC 3 panel and half-quatrefoils forming the edge.

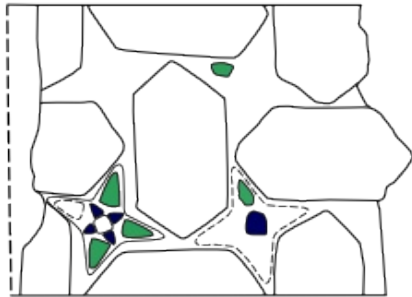

Style H

Decoration composed of blue and white ceramic fragments inlaid in coating, in order to form a cross pattern. The whole element is likely molded in finish.

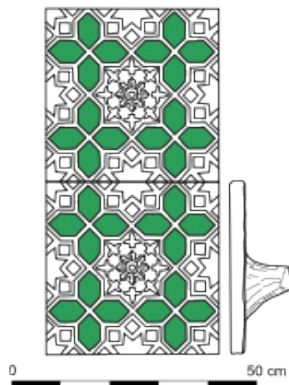

Style I

Inlaid of eight-pointed green glazed stars and crosses tiles, and half-stars on the edge.

Style J

The decoration pattern is the same as style A, but here EICHS are curved and dimensions of the architectural element are reduced.

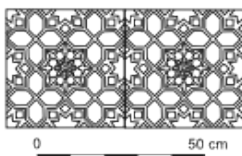

Style K

Layout of EC 1 panels.

Style L

Layout of EM 1 panels.

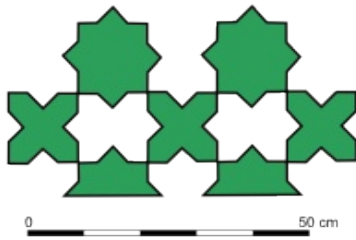

Style M

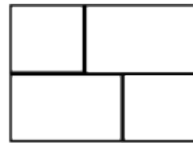

Restitutiton under study

Layout of metallic lustre tiles and a frieze composed of haf-stars, crosses fragments and rectangular tiles.

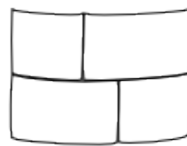

Style N

Eight-pointed stars and crosses inlaid in an architectural element.
 Probable half-stars on the edge.
 The general organization of decoration being restored here, the covered surface remains uncertain though.

Style O

Layout of quadrangular carved stones.

Style P

Layout of quadrangular curved carved stones.

Style Q

Frieze of glazed stars inlaid in mortar.

Wood, painted coating, graffiti.
